Kicking off National Pet Month, VCA Charities today announced the launch of its Second Chance KONG® grants and fundraising initiative aimed at making second chances possible for more shelter pets—a program made possible by a partnership with KONG.

VCA Charities believes all pets deserve a loving home—not to mention care and toys while they wait for one. That’s why with every $20 donation made at select VCA Animal Hospitals during the month of May, VCA Charities is providing generous donors with a limited-edition “Second Chance KONG” and giving a KONG Classic or Extreme to a shelter pet. One hundred percent of donations made will support the VCA Charities Ready for Rescue grant program, which supports shelter with adoption-readiness efforts and veterinary care and resources.

“Knowing we’re helping to create thousands of second chances for pets in need means we’re delivering on our mission of helping pets find and remain in loving homes. We can do so much when we connect hometown needs with the support of our local hospital teams and the national reach of VCA Charities,” said Kimberly West, president and chair of VCA Charities board of directors and vice president of Corporate Affairs at VCA Animal Hospitals.

Nationwide, 121 VCA Animal Hospitals will offer the limited-edition KONG—6,050 one-of-a-kind versions of the beloved toy. The “Second Chance KONGs” are repurposed KONG “seconds”—slightly imperfect KONGs that can’t be sold because of small imperfections but have the same durability of any KONG you’d find in a store—reducing waste while increasing resources for some of the highest intake shelters across the United States.

To celebrate the campaign, during the month of May an additional 6,050 KONGs will arrive at 12 high-intake shelters across the country including Los Angeles Animal Services (California), Dallas Animal Services (Texas), Miami Dade Animal Services (Florida), Lifeline Animal Project (Georgia) and Michigan Humane Society (Michigan), among others.

“One of the most requested items by shelters is for toys like KONG, which help provide healthy enrichment for shelter pets,” said Kim Van Syoc, executive director of VCA Charities. “Having access to toys means shelter pets have an appropriate outlet for keeping busy while they patiently wait for a forever home.”

In addition to the May campaign, VCA Charities is partnering with KONG to grant 42,000 more of the beloved toys annually to shelters across the United States.

“The joy that pets bring to people is undeniable—and we wholeheartedly believe pets deserve the same joy in return,” said Gabe Martinez, Vice President of KVP International. “To know the donation of these KONG toys is not only creating second chances for shelter pets, but also providing joy to thousands of dogs each year, is the ultimate win, win.”

Helping pets find and remain in loving homes is at the heart of VCA Charities’ mission. Since 2021, VCA Charities has donated more than $2 million in grants and provided nearly 1.5 million meals to hungry pets in partnership with Hill’s Pet Nutrition. Whether it’s responding to disasters, transporting pets from at-capacity shelters to ones with a waitlist of adopters, or funding emergency veterinary care for pets belonging to low-income pet owners, VCA Charities works to support the joy of pet ownership in communities across the country.
